Welcome to Dayton

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Dayton, Ohio, situated in the rich Miami Valley, was settled in 1796 and named in honor of General Jonathan Dayton. The first town charter was granted in 1805, followed by a city charter in 1841.

BIRTHPLACE OF AVIATION

Dayton, home of the Wright Brothers, co-inventors of the powered airplane, has become the world mecca for those interested in aeronautical research and experimental work. At Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, the nerve center of Air Force research and procurement, the air strength of the nation is being developed.

EDUCATION - CULTURE - RECREATION

Dayton boasts five institutions of higher learning, a public school system of high standing, and many parochial and private schools. There are five museums of various types in the area, each unique in its own respect. The Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra, Dayton Civic Ballet, and numerous theatre groups also attest to the high cultural interests of the city. There are over 325 churches, representing 20 denominations.

Three public golf courses and seven private clubs cater to Dayton golfers. In sports, Dayton ranks high nationally in basketball and ice hockey, thanks to the U.D. Flyers and the Dayton Gems.

DINING - ENTERTAINMENT

No other city its size boasts as many truly fine restaurants as Dayton. Cuisines of every type from almost every nation please the most discriminating gourmet, in a wide variety of atmospheres to match your dining mood. Equally varied is the range of entertainment offered by Dayton's many outstanding supper clubs and cocktail lounges.
